ACADEMIC CUSTOMS AND DRESS

The origins of many customs of the academic world are to be traced to the Middle Ages, particularly the eleventh and twelfth centuries when the first European universities — Bologna, Paris and Oxford — were founded.

In their original organization, the universities were like medieval corporations or guilds. In fact the word “universitas” originally referred to any kind of corporation. The students at the universities were equated to guild apprentices, and so the completion of this apprenticeship was celebrated by a “commencement” marking the beginning of their careers.

In the twelfth century, everyone wore gowns. The social and economic status of an individual was shown by the extra features, such as fur trimming, on the gowns. Cloaks with hoods were worn over gowns for protection in bad weather. Degrees began to be awarded in the thirteenth century, and different styles of gowns and different colors came to represent the various degrees and disciplines.

Over the centuries the styles of dress changed, and by the seventeenth century, the wearing of gowns by men had virtually ceased. But the universities, particularly those in Britain, continued to be conservative and strict in the matter of academic customs and dress. At Oxford, for instance, students could be fined for cutting class or not taking notes, and candidates for master’s degrees had to swear that they owned a gown and would always wear it at the proper times!

The first American universities were founded on English models. However, the wearing of academic dress was not universal and ceased during the Civil War. The custom was revived in the late nineteenth century, and in 1895 an academic costume code was adopted which, with modifications, is still used.

Most American universities have the standard black gown with the hood serving to distinguish the individual institutions. Some American and European universities have adopted or preserved more distinctive gowns. There are three styles of gowns, distinguished mainly by the sleeves: the bachelor’s gown, with long, pointed sleeves; the master’s, with a squared sleeve, cut so the forearm is free; the doctor’s, with bell-shaped sleeves with three velvet bands.

The hood is the really distinguishing feature of modern gowns, indicating the degree (the width of the edging band), the discipline (the color of the band) and the college or university (the colors of the lining). Today’s graduates have hoods edged in white (BA., M.A.L.S.), gold (B.S., B.L.S.) or drab (M.B.A.). Many faculty members will have blue edging indicating the Ph.D. degree. The faculty will be wearing hoods representing many distinguished institutions of higher education, e.g., navy blue and orange for the University of Virginia, orange and maroon for Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, cardinal and blue for the University of Pennsylvania.

FACULTY EMERITI

Faculty members who have served Mary Washington College for at least 15 years and who have attained the rank of Professor or Associate Professor are eligible upon retirement to be considered for emeritus status. This honor, by action of the Board of Visitors, is bestowed this year upon eight distinguished members of the faculty.

JULIETTE BREFFORT BLESSING

Professor of Modern Foreign Languages

Dr. Blessing has taught French language, literature and culture at Mary Washington College for 35 years. She has taught 20th-Century French Theater, a seminar on Moliere, and courses in composition, conversation and civilization. Having served for many years as career and study abroad advisor, she established an ongoing exchange program between Mary Washington and the University of Valenciennes in France. In 1981 the French government honored her with membership in the Order of the Academic Palms for her role as academic ambassador to French language and culture.

DELMONT F. FLEMING

Professor of English, Linguistics, and Speech

Dr. Fleming came to Mary Washington 25 years ago, and has taught the full range of American literature, especially literature of the 19th-century. He is particularly noted in his department for development of several varied seminars, and for the witty lectures he has contributed to departmental events. He has served the department in many ways, and has been on nearly every standing committee of the College. For four years, he served as secretary of the faculty.

ROSEMARY H. HERMAN

Associate Professor of Modern Foreign Languages

A member of the Mary Washington College faculty since 1950, Rosemary Herman established a program in Portuguese and has taught language classes in both Portuguese and Spanish. A Latin American generalist, she has offered a variety of courses in Spanish American literature and civilization and has created a course in Spanish for Professional Use. With her close ties to the Hispanic community in the Washington, D.C., area, she has been instrumental in establishing a number of internships for students of Spanish. She is a charter member of the Kappa of Virginia Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa. Curator by hobby, she maintains an impressive collection of Latin American cultural artifacts.

MARGARET M. HOFMANN

Professor of Modern Foreign Languages

A member of the French faculty for 29 years, Dr. Hofmann has taught both language and literature, including courses in her special areas of medieval and 19th-century prose. During her tenure at Mary Washington, she not only served on innumerable committees, but she was also an advisor in Academic Affairs for two years and chair of the Department of Modern Foreign Languages for four years. She was among those instrumental in establishing the M.A.L.S. program and has been active for many years as mentor for the B.L.S. program.

CHARLES A. SLETTEN

Professor of Sociology

Since joining the faculty in 1958, Dr. Sletten has made several significant contributions to the strengthening of the sociology curriculum, developing courses in American society, juvenile delinquency, research methods, occupations, and classical and contemporary social theory. He has unselfishly devoted considerable attention to individual students through his special readings courses, his supervision of numerous internships, and his lengthy tenure as the department's career advisor. He has served on various committees and was acting chair of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology in 1984-85. Dr. Sletten is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and has actively participated in the local chapter.

LAWRENCE A. WISHNER

Professor of Chemistry

Dr. Wishner joined the faculty of Mary Washington College in 1961. He served as chair for the Department of Chemistry from 1967 to 1971, and as assistant dean for instruction from 1971 to 1977. Dr. Wishner has served on 14 College committees, chairing six of them, and three ad hoc committees. In addition to teaching a wide variety of chemistry courses ranging from the introductory level to biochemistry and advanced senior-level courses, he has taught three different graduate-level courses and has supervised research with 11 students who graduated with honors in chemistry. His special interests include the works of Yeats and Bernard, Islamic textiles, and the eastern chipmunk.

JANET G. ZELEZNOCK

Associate Professor of Mathematics

Janet Zeleznock, a member of the Mary Washington College faculty for 25 years, has taught a broad spectrum of mathematics courses. She was a founder and charter member of the Zeta Chapter of Pi Mu Epsilon, the math honorary society, and served as the advisor until 1989. In 1980, she received the Grellet C. Simpson Award for excellence in undergraduate teaching.

BENJAMIN F. ZIMDARS

Professor of History

Dr. Zimdars, a member of the Department of History for 27 years, has taught both the American and Western Civilization freshman surveys, as well as annual courses in British, Latin American and Spanish history, and seminars on such diverse topics as the early European empires and historiography. For many years the secretary-treasurer of the department, Dr. Zimdars also served as the secretary of the faculty, the faculty advisor to the history honorary, Phi Alpha Theta, and in the last 10 years he led the department's efforts to enter the computer age.

ALMA MATER

All hail, dear Alma Mater,
We sing our praise to you.
High on Marye's Hilltop
You stand forever true;
Born in truth and honor
You ever more shall be,
The model of our future years
And all eternity.

Whene'er we have to leave you
We never will forget,
The lessons you have taught us,
And all the friends we've met;
And we your sons and daughters
Will hold your name on high,
So here's to Mary Washington;
Our love will never die.
